POLIS

Pauline, the greatest of all hypnotists, heads the program at Polis's the last half of this week. He needs no introduction to Bridgeporters, with whom he is always a welcome favorite. Pauline has a series of new and sensational demonstrations of mind over matter, are positively weird. He has been called every kind of a "fakir" extant, but Pauline says you can call him what you want. The only thing he asks is that you duplicate his feats. He is sure to be given a cordial greeting at Polis's.

Miss Theda Bara, famed as the "vampire woman," will be seen in the new role, in the stirring photo-visualization of "The Two Orphans," which heads the photo-play bill. The picture, in five parts, is based on the famous drama, and is presented by a wonderful cast. Playing a leading part with Miss Bara is dainty Joan Sothern.

An extra added feature will be Charles O'Leary, the renowned entertainer, in a pianologue and songs. He is a real artist. Another big attraction will be the dramatic playlet, "The Law of the West," a thrilling story of the plains, presented by Harry Leighton & Company.

Other attractions on the vaudeville program are: Haviland and Thornton, in songs and dances; Niblo and Nugent, in a series of new and sensational stunts; and a sensational aerial artist.

PLAZA

"The Great Ruby," a five-act Lubin feature, based upon the thrilling Drury Lane melodrama of the same name by Cecil Raleigh, will be the big photo-attraction at the Plaza the latter half of the week. On the speaking stage, "The Great Ruby" was the sensation of the year, which it was produced both in this country and in London, and tells the story of a wonderful gem stolen from India and eventually recovered by the rightful owners after a series of remarkable adventures including a marvelous fight in a balloon thousands of feet above the earth. This photoplay is one which will keep an audience on the tip-toe of expectation, for the unexpected happens in almost every scene. Aside from the great balloon scene, in which the immense gas bag is shot down by guns and comes to earth a wreck, one of the most interesting moments of the play is that in which Lady Garnet, walking in her sleep, steals the ruby in place of a rose her lover has placed in the drawer of a cabinet. Taken all in all "The Great Ruby" is a photoplay that will demand the admiration of all.

"Bachelor & Sweethearts," an immense musical comedy production, secured at great expense to head the vaudeville program should do its share in drawing the crowds. The act is written along original lines, has all new songs, numbers, clever, classic dances, a beautiful wardrobe and some exquisite scenic effects. There is an exceptionally pretty chorus, as well.

The remainder of the vaudeville consists of Eckhoff & Gordon in their own original farce entitled "The Musical Fun Makers"; George Reeves, the minstrel man, with the funny songs and jokes; and the Silvertone Quartet in a splendid wire-walking offering. "Jones' Hypnotic Eye" and "When the Range Called" compose the bill.

LYRIC

George Scarborough's vivid drama "The Lure," which ran for three months in New York, will be next week's offering of the Cecil Spooner Stock company at the Lyric theatre. The play was projected by its author to arouse an apathetic public to a realization of the "white slave" traffic, and it was intended, also, to put an immediate limit to the operations of the traffickers by forcing their possible victims.

Specifically, the play recites the story of a shop girl, Sylvia, whose meager wages are insufficient to provide for the emergencies created by sickness. In her distress she recalls the frequent offers of a relative, the owner of the store—a woman of smiling countenance and engaging manner who has spoken often to Sylvia of "good wages for a little extra work now and then." Sylvia repairs to the address she has retained, enters the house and finds that her necessity has combined with her credulity to lure her into the clutches of white slavery. Fortunately, a secret service detective, charged in investigating the mysterious disappearance of another girl, is on the scene and through his assistance, Sylvia effects her escape.

In the cast of "The Lure" at the Lyric will appear Miss Cecil Spooner herself, Pol Trenton, and the other members of the Cecil Spooner Company.

EMPIRE

"Laugh and the world laughs with you." The star of the above "Forgotten" now appearing at the above theatre, believes and the star is no less a well-known actress than Marie Cahill, Broadway's favorite comedienne, who at all times is on the lookout for a situation or anti-climax in which is a big scream.

Charlotte Walker, supported by an all star Lasky cast, will be seen in "Out of the Darkness," a drama of serious intent, which will be the feature attraction at this theatre tomorrow and Saturday. Miss Walker will be remembered by photodramatic patrons here for her splendid performance of the woman of the slums in "Kindling."

PARK

"A FULL HOUSE."

Of all the offerings of the new theatrical season, none has a higher reputation for good clean, fun, brisk action and excellent acting than "A Full House," the new farce which is announced for the Park next Monday and Tuesday with a special matinee Tuesday.

"A Full House" was produced by H. H. Frazee, to whose discriminating judgment is also due last season's notable laugh provoker, "A Pair of Sixes." The new farce will be presented here by a superb aggregation of comedians with metropolitan reputations. Mr. Frazee's productions are always conspicuous for lavish and intelligent expenditure, and "A Full House" comes here with a new and complete equipment.

WEST END THEATRE

Dorothy Donnelly, the prominent stage star, recently seen in "The Song of Songs" at the Eltinge theatre, and previous to that as the star of "Madame X," will be seen at the new West End theatre on State street near Clinton avenue, tonight in the Metro Picture Corporation's production of Hulbert Footner's brilliant romance, "Sealed Valley," which has been pictured by Metro from the book, and which, according to photoplay writers, is the most thrilling, virile and subtle of any of the recent Metro releases.

Miss Donnelly's appearance in "Sealed Valley" marks her first in a production of this importance on the screen.

"Sealed Valley" with Dorothy Donnelly and an all select cast will be the next release on the Metro Program and will be seen at the new West End theatre tonight.

BIG MILITARY CARNIVAL

All roads will lead to Eagles' hall this evening where the big military and civic carnival under the auspices of Company F. Hibernian Rifles, will open, preceded by a parade through Main street in which Company F will appear in their new equipment with the uniformed rank of the Woodmen of the World, Eagles' Degree Team, Hibernians of Bridgeport and Stratford, and the Bridgeport Aerics of Eagles, headed by the True Blue Drum Corps, and with Co. T. J. Murphy as grand marshal. This route will be from Gilbert street through Main street to Eagles' Hall. All of the preparations for the carnival have been completed. There will be a different form of entertainment and dancing each evening, and a good time is assured everybody. The proceeds of the carnival will be used for the payment for the new equipment of the company and all friends are invited to assist in making the carnival a success.

THE DANBURY FAIR.

Grand Stand Attractions and Hippodrome Acts.

The grand stand platform attractions at the Danbury Fair, which, by the way, opens Monday, Oct. 4, for the week, are to be of the same high class as in former years. Among the acts will be that of the Astimes, a troupe of "sky high" Hippodrome acrobats, doing a double loop-the-loop. Next in order will be a roller skating bear, a performance that is said to be almost as new as the roller skating show at the fair. The Hamilton Brothers follow with a comedy sketch in two parts, entitled "The Laughing Rioters." Then in order come the Four Newcomers, a springboard acrobatic act in another Hippodrome; act; Hampton's Dog Circus and the Australian Wood Choppers.

The dog circus and the wood choppers are feature acts of more than the usual prominence. "Old Doctor" Hamilton, as he chooses to be called, is probably the oldest exhibitor of educated dogs, as he is the most prominent, now on the stage. He is the originator of many surprising acts in connection with his dog circus, and this performance will appeal especially to the children.

INVASION OF MEXICO.

The first invasion of Mexico by a foreign power reached its successful conclusion sixty-eight years ago today, Sept. 14, 1847, when Gen. Scott and the American army entered the City of Mexico. The conquest of northern Mexico had been effected before Scott marched on the capital. He landed at Vera Cruz in March, with an army of 18,000, and the following month began the advance into the interior. They were confronted by a strong force of Mexicans in the strong pass of Cerro Gordo, but defeated Santa Anna's men and pressed onward. The fort of Fort de Fots and the city of Jalapa surrendered without resistance, and in May the victorious Americans entered Puebla. There the army rested until August, when the advance was resumed, and the Mexican army of 30,000 was defeated and broken up by a force of a third its number. The battle of the capital, held out until Sept. 19th, when the Stars and Stripes waved over its shattered castle, and on the following day Scott entered the city. In 1863 another foreign army marched from Vera Cruz to the City of Mexico, the French under Bazaine capturing the city in which the Austrian Archduke Maximilian set up his short-lived empire.

An order for 500,000 shells for the Russian government was received by the Scranton P. & A. Co. from the Baldwin Locomotive works.

Miss Alice Corning of Nahant, Mass., died from burns received in an automobile collision. The gasoline tank of one of the cars exploded.

The famous German coal syndicate, at Essen, Germany, was renewed for 15 months.

SAFE HOME REMEDY FOR SKIN TROUBLES

Eczema, ringworm and other itching, burning skin eruptions are so easily made worse by improper treatment that one has to be very careful. There is one method, however, that you need never hesitate to use, even on a baby's tender skin—that is the resinsol ointment. Resinsol is the prescription of a Baltimore doctor, put up in the form of resinol ointment and resinol soap. This proved so remarkably successful, that thousands of other physicians have prescribed it constantly for over twenty years. Resinsol stops itching instantly, and almost always heals the eruption quickly and at little cost. Resinsol ointment and resinol soap can be bought at any drugstore. Write for free samples, Dept. 3-R, Resinsol, Baltimore, Md.
